1	Binding with faux piping.	6/21/2014 10:15 AM
2	No	6/21/2014 10:11 AM
3	Scrappy	6/21/2014 9:41 AM
4	I often do scrappy binding or insert pieces for design effects.	6/21/2014 7:23 AM
5	Lots of scrappy ones due to lack of enough of one kind. I'll try others eventually	6/21/2014 6:33 AM
6	I've had to piece together binding of differing colors to make the material be enough, but nothing too difficult.	6/21/2014 5:35 AM
7	Love scrappy binding and love to match up the patterns. For matching patterns I always cut enough extra to have a full repeat of the pattern at the end so I can match it up and not have to worry about being short	6/21/2014 5:16 AM
8	No	6/21/2014 3:05 AM
9	I fussy cut a binding once to get a specific part of the fabric to show perfectly on the front. That was really fun. Striped binding YES. Matched binding, someday soon.	6/20/2014 10:49 PM
10	Yes, scrappy for sure and I have tried your matched binding once and managed to make it work!	6/20/2014 9:31 PM
11	Scrappy	6/20/2014 8:15 PM
12	Scrappy yes. Fun.	6/20/2014 7:59 PM
13	Nope.	6/20/2014 7:29 PM
14	No, I'm pretty boring as far as bindings go.	6/20/2014 6:59 PM
15	Scrappy	6/20/2014 4:09 PM
16	Scrappy and striped	6/20/2014 3:45 PM
17	Yes. Did a work quilt when 20 people did different blocks in completely different styles/colours. Most people had extra fabric that I made binding from to draw it together.	6/20/2014 3:13 PM
18	scrappy, and striped (I am assuming you mean flanged, where there is a narrow stripe of some contrasting fabric showing on the front that you stitch-in-the-ditch from the front to finish).	6/20/2014 1:00 PM
19	Occasionally scrappy if I'm low on a particular fabric I want to use for it.	6/20/2014 12:15 PM
20	Yes, I have done bias binding. I also love using random lengths leftover from the quilt.	6/20/2014 12:05 PM
21	Yes, I've pieced bindings before.	6/20/2014 11:57 AM
22	nope	6/20/2014 11:45 AM
23	Scrappy binding	6/20/2014 10:18 AM
24	No.	6/20/2014 9:57 AM
25	scrappy.	6/20/2014 9:37 AM
26	I put my label on the binding so that both sides of the quilt can be viewed without a label taking away from the design. Using the alphabet on my machine, I embroider all the label info so that it can be viewed on the back of the quilt on the lower right edge.	6/20/2014 9:31 AM

32	No	6/20/2014 6:41 AM
33	I love a scrappy binding, usually made with leftover strips from the fabrics used in the project. Of course you can't go wrong with a solid. I don't do striped very often. Oh, dots are fabulous!	6/20/2014 6:28 AM
34	Yes! Binding can totally make or break a quilt!	6/20/2014 6:27 AM
35	For the curved binding on a wedding ring quilt, I watched Sharon Shamber's binding tutorial videos a million times!	6/20/2014 6:19 AM
36	No	6/20/2014 6:01 AM
37	Yes. I have a tutorial on how to match striped binding on my blog. http://liketosew.blogspot.com/p/tutorials.html I also folded over the backing as binding on one of my quilts.	6/20/2014 5:57 AM
38	I have made scrappy binding and 2 sided binding.	6/20/2014 5:49 AM

41	All! Yes!	6/20/2014 4:59 AM
42	Scrappy	6/20/2014 4:57 AM
43	No, but I was recently inspired by Brigitte Giblin, talented Australian quilter, who uses many different binding techniques inspired by her French heritage and love for European quilts.	6/20/2014 4:32 AM
44	Scrappy. I liked that.	6/20/2014 4:21 AM
45	I have used leftover bits from the quilt top to make the binding, using multiple colours of different lengths.	6/20/2014 3:59 AM
46	Lots of scrappy... Some stripped... Only a few matched...	6/20/2014 3:43 AM
47	Several times. Fun finish	6/20/2014 2:14 AM

53	Yes scrappy for some art quilts.	6/20/2014 1:04 AM
54	Scrappy binding yes. I just see together in a straight line (meaning no angles) and sew slowly when I come to that part in the binding.	6/20/2014 12:51 AM
55	Scrappy	6/20/2014 12:22 AM
56	I want to make a scrappy binding... actually I did once but it was for something small - a table runner I think. But I have a quilt that is yet to be quilted that I know is going to want a scrappy binding.	6/20/2014 12:18 AM
57	Once. I put a specific fabric in a specific spot. It was a pain but I like the result.	6/19/2014 11:45 PM

67	Yes, I've made scrappy binding, just sewed a bunch of colors from the quilt into the binding.	6/19/2014 9:37 PM
68	No, but I would love to try your stripped binding technique.	6/19/2014 9:17 PM
69	I love scrappy binding! I have a little glass terrarium shaped like a house on my sewing table with little rolls of quilt binding inside. If I need a scrappy binding, I just pull out the rolls and join.	6/19/2014 9:10 PM
70	I adore scrappy binding. for those I usually join my strips with a straight seam rather than diagonal. it adds a bit of bulk but I tend to like the look better.	6/19/2014 8:32 PM
71	Scrappy binding	6/19/2014 8:26 PM
72	Scrappy bindings for the win! They can be lots of fun. I also put two notches of different fabric in my quilt an call it my Glitter Flecked Binding.	6/19/2014 8:14 PM

83	Scrappy yes!	6/19/2014 7:13 PM

92	All but the matched binding, but your tutorial is on my bucket list!	6/19/2014 6:44 PM
93	Scrappy binding all the time--using leftover strips	6/19/2014 6:38 PM
94	I love a scrappy binding. I refuse to use really small pieces or join end to end. It had to join on the bias or I'm not interested.	6/19/2014 6:29 PM
95	I have done all those	6/19/2014 6:29 PM
96	Scrappy and striped.	6/19/2014 6:27 PM
97	I have made a scrappy binding with leftovers. I did not match the placement to anything in the quilt top, it was just straight scrappy bits of binding that I strung together to make a long enough piece.	6/19/2014 6:24 PM

About binding

98	Just scrappy, but I'd like to try your matched binding sometime.	6/19/2014 6:09 PM

118	No but I'd love to!	6/19/2014 5:21 PM
119	I really like to do the flanged binding. It looks like piping and is such a great design element!	6/19/2014 5:20 PM
120	I mostly use one fabric for binding but have done scrappy	6/19/2014 5:12 PM

126	I did a scrappy binding for a quilt mixing prints from the quilt.	6/19/2014 4:59 PM
127	Yep. Depending on if the quilt needs it.	6/19/2014 4:54 PM
128	No	6/19/2014 4:52 PM

132	Matched binding; facing.	6/19/2014 4:25 PM
133	Just made a supernova quilt and threw in some random pieces on my solid binding to carry over the nova effect. Love scrappy binding to spice up a lot of negative space.	6/19/2014 4:22 PM
134	Scrappy and striped	6/19/2014 4:18 PM

143	Yes. Scrappy, striped and the two colored one that looks like piping.	6/19/2014 3:41 PM

145	Yes, love that!	6/19/2014 3:32 PM

148	I almost always use more than one fabric when I bind.	6/19/2014 3:12 PM

150	I often keep scraps of binding and use them on other quilts. I also experiment with a double binding as well were on is bound and one is a pop of color folded on top of the quilt.	6/19/2014 2:59 PM
151	Yes, using the scraps from the quilt	6/19/2014 2:47 PM

158	Scrappy	6/19/2014 2:12 PM

167	Have made scrappy binding but haven't used it yet. I've found quite a few cool binding tips/techniques on Pinterest and have pinned them, but then I always end up doing it the way I've always done it - probably because I'm very confident I can do it that way, and trying something new tends to make me nervous!	6/19/2014 1:44 PM
